

STONESTREET FRAME AND LOG FARM

AL-II-A-075

Williams Road, Flintstone

ca. 1842

The Stonestreet Farm consists of two separate facades which were constructed at different times. The original portion was a square log structure, with a large stone end chimney. It was probably constructed in 1842 by Henry Jamison. A frame addition was added to the original log building at a later date.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Stonestreet Frame and Log Farm is located on the eastern side of the Williams Road in Rush, Allegany County, near the intersection of the Old Williams Road.

The house consists of two separate facades which were constructed at different times. The earlier of the two blocks consists of a two story, two bay wide, rectangular shaped log structure. The later addition consists of a two story, two bay wide frame structure. The entire facade is supported by a low stone foundation with a plain water table. Walls of the structure are plain, however the entire facade has been covered with weatherboarding. Windows in the house feature replaced double hung wooden sash frames with two-over-two lights and plain trim. The roof of the building is gabled and covered with tin sheeting while the eaves exhibit replaced boxed cornices and return ends. Three main entrances are located on the front northwestern side and feature the original six panel door with plain trim. A one story wrap around porch extends the full length of the front northwest side and continues on the rear southeast length. The porch hipped roof is covered with tin sheeting and supported by eight chamfered columns on the front side. Two original chimneys are found within the block. A corbeled brick chimney is located centrally to the frame block while an original corbeled stone chimney is located on the outside end of the log block, however it is located centrally to the facade.

SPECIFIC DATES

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

Henry A. Jamison

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

On February 4th 1842 Henry A. Jamison received a state of Maryland land patent for 591 5/8 acres. ¹ Jamison named the land "Retirement" and built the log portion of what is now known as the Stonestreet Farm. In all probability, after the farm began to prosper Jamison added the 30'x18' frame section. Today, the entire building is covered with clapboards.

The Stonestreet House is one of a large group of 19th century farms located in the farming region east of Cumberland. All of the farmhouses in the Flintstone area display architectural details which indicated both the farmer's cultural awareness and the importance of farming to his life.
